Cognitive Rehabilitation;

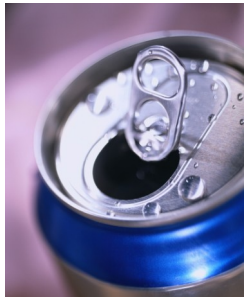

What is it? How does it work? and How do you do it?

Renowned author and Director of Memory Rehabilitation for Towson University, Dr. Parente will provide a one-day seminar with hands-on training designed to teach you the ins and outs of cognitive rehabilitation. When you leave this course, you will understand how to provide at least basic cognitive rehabilitation to your clientele, or family member.

Cost for this one-day session is only $75. With the shortened time away from work, meals provided, and low cost, we know you will find this year's brain injury conference fits well within your budget.

Wyoming Acquired Brain Injury Task Force Meeting

The task force will meet on March 25th from 1 to 5 P.M. We are seeking additional members from all walks of life related to brain injury. Are you a survivor, a family member, a service provider, an educator, a vocational rehabilitation counselor, do you work with veterans, do you provide medical services related to brain injury... if so, you and others like you are wanted!

We meet quarterly to discuss services for brain injury survivors in our state, and to affect change in state programs and policies related to brain injury. Come and have your voice heard!

Lois McElravy Presents:

Hangin' On With Humor When Life Looks Ugly

Lois' self-effacing style will have you chuckling into your napkins over lunch. Her insights into the complex and confusing world of the brain injury survivor will entertain and delight you while providing a positive message.
